

IFMA Luncheon Meeting

Wednesday, August 20, 2003

Magianno's in Buckhead

Topic: "Projected Development in Atlanta"

Speaker: Gregg T. Logan, Managing Director, Robert Charles Lesser & Co.

Gregg Logan specializes in strategic analysis for the real estate market, including residential, commercial, and recreational properties. He translates market trend data into actionable solutions for clients, helping them to capitalize on opportunities by providing economically sound investment, development and strategic advice. His experience encompasses both public and private sector work, nationally and internationally. He is regarded as an expert in the areas of Smart Growth and Development, and the relationship of changing demographics to future real estate demand. At RCL Co, he has conducted and supervised numerous studies for a variety of clients, including builders and developers, universities, investors, lenders, cities and counties, and other groups.

Mr. Logan will speak about projected development in Atlanta over the next 10 years, specifically addressing the Downtown and Midtown areas.
